Voices

One night, when I was about to sleep I heard a voice, I looked around but no one was there. I thought it was my sister but she was fast asleep. Suddenly, I saw bright stars on my ceiling, it was angels, they wanted to say goodnight to me only.

What is a voice?

A voice can be kind
A voice can be mean
A voice can be scary
A voice cannot be seen
Some are loud
Some are quiet
Some may scream
But even the smallest voice
Can still dream!

The little girl and the lemon stand

"Come and get a refreshing lemonade here," shouted the little girl. She waited and waited until a man finally came. He bought a cup then walked away. As she walked back inside, she turned around... she saw a line for lemonade.

Speaking out!

Some white people have been discriminating black people because of their skin colour. Some people have even spoken out in their own voice. They have said to not disrespect people's skin colour. Martin Luther King Jr said, "I have a dream." Rosa Parks was courageous, determined, empowering, heroic and enduring.

Where's my voice gone?

I called my friend, she answered! I tried to talk, but I was bamboozled! My friend said, "Has your voice gone?" I ended the call "BEEP" okay we have to chill, but it's my djembe concert tomorrow! I was like Nooo! But this doesn't end.

The Hat

"Whose hat's this?" asked Terry. He was a curious boy. This was an adventure. He asked 20 people until he heard a miracle. "Where's my hat?"

Terry ran as fast as his legs could carry him asking the old man.

"This yours?" The man grabbed it smiling a thank you.

What's on your mind?

I woke up from my coma. I sat up in my bed. I could hear voices, hundreds of negatives ones! But no mouths were moving. How could it be possible? I could read their minds... so if you need to say something don't be scared to use your voice.
